Practical Halacha - Parshas Shekalim

The Shabbos that proceeds Rosh Chodesh Adar and followed by the month of Nissan, is called Parshas Shekalim. On this Shabbos we read the passage that discusses the contribution of a half shekel for the communal offerings brought in the Beis Hamikdash. This contribution was made annually, and was due in time to bring offerings from the new fund for the month of Nissan. An announcement was made on Rosh Chodesh Adar.

Although we are unable to make a contribution towards communal offerings today, we commemorate the obligation by reading the passage pertaining to the half shekel at the onset of Adar.

If Rosh Chodesh would fall on Shabbos, then that day itself is the reading of Parshas Shekalim. In that case, we take three Torah scrolls out of the ark. From the first Torah scroll six aliyos are called for the reading of the weekly portion. From the second scroll the seventh oleh is called and would read the passage of Rosh Chodesh. We would then recite half kaddish. From the third scroll we would read Parshas Shekalim and the haftara appropriate for Parshas Shekalim.

Good Shabbos,
Rabbi Cohen
